

THE END

But Earl Durand is gone. He forfeited his right to live, and his life is a closed chapter. Powell people, in a united way, went to heal these wounds, and in that spirit, so far as we are concerned the narrative of the fugitive Earl Durand's exploits has been told.

Powell Tribune, March 30, 1939